NEWS

Host Joshua Johnson and journalist Ron Nixon discuss the outcome of South Africa's election earlier this month. Nelson Mandela's party the African National Congress maintained control, but its majority fell below 60% for the first time. This episode of 1A explores whether the ANC has what it takes to lead the nation toward Mandela's vision and what could possibly take its place.

Hesburgh and his legacy

A new study from the Annenberg School at George Washington University shows that collective intelligence — peer learning within social networks — can increase belief accuracy even in politically homogeneous groups.

The 5Ws and 1H of Digital Journalism

More Than Digital Technology,” the latest issue of “Digital Journalism” includes articles by Center for Media at Risk scholar Arthur Zelizer and by the reporter and author of “The 5Ws and 1H of Digital Journalism” Natacha Yazbeck.

Our Women on the Ground: Essays by Arab Women Reporting from the Arab World

Exploring the struggles, achievements and insights of women journalists from across the Arab world, Our Women on the Ground: Essays by Arab Women Reporting from the Arab World by Roopa Vasudevan, Jennifer Henrichsen, Daniel Grinberg, Natacha Yazbeck and others offers a stirring defense of liberalism and why, in an age of autocracy, our lives may depend on its continuation.

A Thousand Small Sanities: The Moral Adventure of Liberalism

The中心主任

With risk surfacing everywhere around us, it’s useful to have some cues about what’s worth exploring. Here are our suggestions.

Films

TRAILER THEORY: NAVIGATION

PODCASTS

CONFERENCES: CFFS

EVENTS

HATS OFF!

Our Women on the Ground: Essays by Arab Women Reporting from the Arab World

NEW STUDY ON ECHO CHAMBERS

Center Steering Committee:

Adminstrative Assistant:

Center Coordinator:

Director:

On the horizon: New programs and events

The Center has announced two new programs:

1. A Thousand Small Sanities: The Moral Adventure of Liberalism. Center researchers will explore the historical and philosophical roots of liberalism and its value in today’s increasingly polarized times.

2. The Future of Journalism. A new program on the future of journalism will present findings from the Center’s 2018-19 research on authoritarianism and political intimidation and discuss the implications for the future of the media.

More to come...